KARIPOLKU TRAIL (7.3 KM/DIRECTION)

Medium difficulty trail – Trail sections with tree roots. There is a steep climb on the trail in the section between Vatunginjärventie road and Jussinpauha. The trail goes through a sheep paddock. Part of the trail runs along duckboards.

Karipolku hiking trail starts in Kilpipakka and ends at Vattajanniemi bathing area in Lohtaja. This trail, which is in year-round use, runs through pine heaths and along forest roads. Nature is constantly changing in this area. On the shallow coast, the impacts of land uplift following the most recent glacial period can be seen clearly. Evidence of land uplift includes fladas and gloses, or former bays which have lost their connection to the sea as the land rises. The land uplift forests in the dune area are diverse and rich in species. Many rare butterfly, plant and bird species thrive in this area.

Along the trail, hikers will find Maijanaro lean-to shelter and campfire site, Jussinpauha lean-to shelter and campfire site, and Karipolku birdwatching tower, which offers views across a nearby flada. Jussinpauha lean-to shelter is supplied with firewood which hikers must cut to suitable lengths. An axe and saw are provided for this purpose.

VATUNKI NATURE TRAIL (1.3 KM)

Medium difficulty trail - There are plenty of paths in the area, which hampers following the right trail. The terrain makes for easy walking.

The nature trail leading through coniferous forest rooted in the sandy soils runs close to Lake Vatunginjärvi and leads visitors to Jussinpauha lean-to shelter and Karipolku birdwatching tower.

OHTAKARI NATURE TRAIL (1.5 KM)

Difficult trail – The nature trail is narrow and rocky.

The nature trail leads through the historic island of Ohtakari with an old fishing village. Along the trail, hikers will find an ancient stone labyrinth, a lean-to shelter and a campfire site. There is an observation tower and a fishing museum on the island.

VATTAJA BIRDWATCHING TOWER

The birdwatching tower is located on the tip of Vattajanniemi headland near a sandy beach and the open sea, at the start of Ohtakari causeway. The 14-metre tower is ideal for watching migratory birds.

DUNE TRAIL 1KM

Medium difficulty - The sand makes for strenuous walking. Accessible duckboards can be found on the side of the Dune trail parking area.

The Dune trail maintained by Metsähallitus runs along sandy dunes on the shores of Vattajanniemi headland, offering views of the open sea. There is an accessible campfire site near Vattajanniemi parking area. The dunes of Vattajanniemi make up the largest dune beach in the northern boreal zone. The pristine dune shores offer something to see and experience to everyone from surfers to birdwatchers.

CROSS-COUNTRY SKI TRACKS

In snowy winters, several ski tracks are kept open in Vattaja and Ohtakari areas. In summer, the ski tracks can be used by hikers where applicable.

- You can move freely in Vattaja area under the Finnish everyone's rights, but you should pay attention to the Finnish Defence Forces' shooting practices, warnings issued about them, and hazardous zones. To check for possible access restrictions in the area, see the information boards along the roads or the website of the Finnish Defence Forces.
- When hiking, take note of the bird nesting season (from 15 April to 31 July) and the grazing areas on the island.
- Please follow marked trails to avoid damaging the sensitive dune nature.
- We follow the principles of litter-free hiking.
